$750,000 Luxury Resort "La Citadelle" Opens

Governor Chandler, State Officials Guests For Opening Of Motel

Eastern Kentucky makes its formal bid for tourists tomorrow with the opening of "La Citadelle," a $750,000 resort-motel on a mountain ridge 2000 feet above Hazard.

A host of dignitaries from Kentucky and adjoining states, including Gov. A. B. Chandler, will be on hand when L. O. Davis, of Hazard and Miami, Fla., swings back the doors to one of the most lavish motels in the southeastern part of the United States.

One Of The Best

Nothing has been spared to make it "the best." Organ music, room-controlled air conditioning, a "Calypso" cocktail lounge, card room, a modern dining room and a coffee shop off a kidney-shaped pool, are some of the features. There's a "Kiddie Korral" for children, and eventually, horseback riding, a putting green, hiking trails for guests, and golf privileges.

The chef was "imported" from Chicago. The menu includes dishes never before served in this mountain community.

Region's Bid For Tourist

Under construction since last summer La Citadelle is Davis' idea of what is needed to lure tourists into Eastern Kentucky's scenic mountains. Davis should know; his entire life has been spent in the entertainment and tourists industries. He pioneered the motion picture industry in Eastern Kentucky, and later was in on the ground floor of tourist and recreation development in Florida.

Davis has capitalized on the mountain scenery which surrounds the motel. The walnut, furnished dining room on the main floor and the coffee shop, one level below panoramic three views of the rugged countryside. All guest rooms have impressive views of the mountains and the valleys below.

Caribbean Motif

Interior furnishings and accessories carry out a Caribbean motif in the cocktail lounge.

The "Calypso Room" has a bamboo bar with flecked yellow and black carpeting. Mammoth black masks of Caribbean natives and a conical, black mask of bongo player are backdrops for the bar. A mural of Caribbean village life is painted in cubism on one wall. Oval bamboo reed lamps hang from polished brass fixtures on the ceiling.

Guest rooms feature walnut furnishings, and walls of sand tan or sky blue. All are carpeted. Fold-away beds are used in the two penthouse suites and the second floor Governor's suite. Closet doors are magnetically latched.

Among dignitaries coming here for the opening are Governor A. B. Chandler and his party, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Davis, executive secretary to Gov. Chandler; Don Sturgill, Commissioner of State Police; Mr. Earl Combs, State Banking Commission; and his wife; Mr. and Mrs. Arch Manious, Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. Verrann, former director State Department of Publicity; Robert Humphreys, former U.S. Senator; Mr. and Mrs. Steve Watkins, Lexington; Dr. and Mrs. M. D. Flannery, Pikeville; Mr. Ross Stoniker, chairman of the board of the E. O. Robinson Mountain Fund; and Mr. and Mrs. D. C. McClannahan, supervisor, Eastern Kentucky Division, L. & N. Railroad.

Panoramas Three Sides

La Citadelle diners get a panorama of Eastern Kentucky mountains from the motel's dining room. Outside the window in the valley below lies Hazard.

Set aside as the Governor's Suite is this room on the second level of the motel. Sketched on the door is the seal of the Commonwealth of Kentucky, "United We Stand, Divided We Fall."

Jaycees Postpone Fitness Program

Hazard Jaycees last night postponed action on sponsoring a Youth Fitness Program in Perry County during a regular meeting of the club at the V.F.W. clubhouse.

Members delayed the decision pending a report from delegates attending the State Jaycee Board of Directors meeting in Louisville this weekend. Local delegates are Glenn Combs, club president, Ike Ritchie, State director, Harold Seale, and Marshall Brown.

The local board of directors announced tentative plans for two dances during the annual Jaycee Homecoming on Labor Day weekend.

Combs appointed a committee of three, Ritchie, Dr. Jack Gross and Fred Luigart Jr., to explore the possibilities of the local club sponsoring a fund drive here for a municipal swimming pool.

Man Hospitalized Following Wreck

A 37-year old Hazard resident was admitted to the Mt. Mary Hospital, Monday afternoon, after his car crashed into a parked car on Ky. 15 between Hazard and Walkertown.

The driver, Robert Walls, 37, suffered chest and back injuries and lacerations of the head. He crashed into a car owned by Kenneth Boggs. Damage to the Boggs car was estimated by police at $800.

Walls has been charged with drunken driving by city police. Investigating officers were James Caskey and Ira Kilburn.

The Professional Photographers of America, Inc., represented by several of its most prominent members, has selected 2 of his photographs for exhibit at the 67th annual convention and trade show of the PPA, being held July 20-25 at the Conrad Hilton hotel, Chicago.

The choice was made by a Jury of Selection comprising holders of the Master of Photography degree, the highest honor PPA confers on qualified members. Photos accepted for display win their makers points towards the Master's degree, for which 25 merits are required, outstanding prints in the exhibit are chosen for the PPA's Loan Collection which tours the country during the year.

Record numbers were submitted and selected for exhibition at this year's convention. From some 5,000 prints sent in by photographers as their best work in 1957, more than 1,000 were accepted for display. About 160 will go into the Loan Collection for exhibition across the country.

More than 5,000 members of the PPA are expected to attend the convention, and some 10,000 of the general public are estimated to see the print exhibit which is open to the public.

The local photographer's accepted work is titled: "Five" and "Lady with the Pans."

The Long Lost Road

Where Is It?

Where is the "Perry County" road project listed as the Hazard-Shoulderblade road in this morning's Courier Journal. Apparently no one knows, unless the State intended to list the "Hazard-Grapevine" road.

One Perry County official he thought the Hazard-Shoulderblade road must run from Breathitt County into Buckhorn. A State Highway official admitted he didn't know where Shoulderblade is and couldn't imagine what road project was intended.

The most logical answer was provided by the State Highway Maintenance Department. An official there said he believes the project is the Hazard-Grapevine road.

Wherever it is the contract went to Cantrill Construction Co., of Lexington, for 11 miles, bituminous concrete surface. Their bid was $158,939.

Another project, the Town Mountain road, listed in the Courier-Journal as Hazard-Ky. 80, was contracted to Bullock Construction Co., of Pittsburgh, Ky., for $150,168, 4.2 miles, grade, drain and traffic bound surface.

Governor's Day Planned Here

"New Look", Kentucky 15 To Receive Emphasis During Honoring Governor

Hazard Jaycees and the city will join hands Aug. 9 to sponsor a "Governor Chandler" day in Perry County.

Purpose of the one-day festival will be to show the Governor the "new Hazard," built since the flood, and to breathe new life into the Ky. 15 Highway Association.

Plans for the Saturday event, were worked out here last night by Jaycees following a telegram from Governor Chandler announcing he can be here for the event.

A parade, a talk by the Governor at the Courthouse, and hillbilly entertainment are included in the events. A time schedule will be announced at a later date.

Tentative plans call for the parade to originate at High and Main Streets, proceed out High and then back up Main to the Courthouse. Asked to participate will be school bands, the city fire department, Boy Scouts, Cubs and other civic and public groups. The parade will be led by four mountain surries.

One of the important aspects of the meeting will be to impress upon the Governor the desire Perry Countians to get the 35 miles of Ky. 15 in this county, re-routed and paved for a more direct route into Central Kentucky.

The Governor in a telegram received here Saturday said he can be here for the event.

State Penalizes Paving Firm

The state of Kentucky will impose a penalty on the Kentucky-Tennessee Paving Co. for failing to complete the widening and re-surfacing of East Main Street by the contracted date of July 20.

The company will be fined $40 per calendar day for every day past July 20, the project is not finished, with allowances made for interference by frequent rains and by city construction, according to Cloyd Hoskins, a state highway engineer acting as inspector for the East main project.

Hoskins said the project has been slowed down considerably by recent rains and by some interference caused by city labor on the same street now undergoing the face lifting.

Meeting Monday

City manager Hobert Wooten said the city has almost completed re-vamping the water system in that neighborhood. He said a fire plug formerly connected to a four inch pipe was re-connected to a 14 inch main on the other side of East Main to give better fire protection in that neighborhood. He also said residences on the South side of the street were tied into the 14 inch main, which required crossing the street with pipe lines in about six places.

A meeting is scheduled for Monday afternoon between Wooten and a construction company head, Nick Johnson, to discuss ways of possibly expediting the East Main work.

Foremen for the company withheld comment until after the Monday meeting.

The contract between the paving company and the Commonwealth allowed 120 days from March 20 for the project to be finished. The company bid $66,700 to get the job. The street to be widened and re-surfaced is about 2,200 feet long.

Two-Story Homes Are Economical

Nothing compares with a two story home for dollar value. Your construction costs are naturally less as are your land requirements. You can buy a choice building site in an established neighborhood for about the price of a larger piece of land in a suburban development area. As for architectural styling... a colonial has graceful beauty and elegance that is ageless.

The lower floor has ample living facilities for a four bedroom home. This is evidenced by a tremendous living room, family size breakfast nook and a food preparation center arranged for maximum convenience.

The China built-ins facing the dining room are enclosed at the lower half... giving you welcome storage space where you want it most. Special attention is warranted because of the excellent traffic pattern in this design. Note the ideal placement of the first floor lavatory, which will save you many unnecessary steps.

The upper story sleeping wing has four bedrooms and one-and-a-half baths plus built-in chests in both of the front bedrooms. Other features like an extra book built-in in one of the front bedrooms, abundant closet space and covered rear porch, which you'll enjoy for those relaxing moments. All-around practical planning gives you a custom type home area.

This plan conforms to general F.P.A. V.A. and Building Code requirements. The plan contains 989 sq. ft., 27,807 cu. ft. and 470 sq. ft. for the garage. Your builder or material supplier can give you the average cost per square or cubic foot in your area.

Divorce-On-The-Run Called Shocking Fact

Richard H. Wells, Chairman of Committee on Improvement of Family Laws, New York City Bar Association, charged today that "The 'quickie' is the result of the unrealistic attitude of legislators in states such as New York which retain rigid and archaic laws dealing with marriage and divorce."

Mr. Wells expressed his views in an exclusive interview with PAGEANT Magazine's reporter Theodore Irwin. Mr. Irwin cites the opinions of Mr. Wells and other experts in the field in his article entitled "The Perils of Quickie Divorce." In the current issue of PAGEANT. This comprehensive report tells why quickie divorce is degrading our courts and tangling thousands of unwary couples in a complicated snarl of legal headaches and heartaches.

To illustrate the hazards inherent in the quickie divorce business and to show how "the legal process is mocked," and "mired with booby-traps that can explode any time," Mr. Irwin tells how the routine operates in many of the states. He relates shocking case histories and actual instances that have ruined family happiness.

In his exclusive interview, Mr. Wells, after discussing the many adverse aspects of this type of divorce told the PAGEANT writer that "Thinking people are necessarily aware that the place where their family problems should be dealt with is in the community where the family resides. Only the courts in such states can responsibly deal with the problems of such families. Our legislators should have the courage to enact laws which are honest and which will give the courts power to solve family problems. Only this way can we rid ourselves of dishonest divorce."

Mr. Irwin also explains in his PAGEANT report why it is very important to pick a "quickie" state carefully. If a person for some reason feels it is a must to get a fast divorce. Also delved into are the various efforts now being made to improve and reform divorce procedures.

Stewards Of Our Possessions

William F. Pettus
Pastor

Read Luke 12:13-21. Text verse 15: "Take heed and beware of covetousness."

According to Bishop Costen J. Harrell, "How shall a Christian regard his property and what use shall he make of it?" is one of the most vital questions which we face in our daily living.

As we read the Four Gospels we find that Jesus spent much time dealing with such themes as: "The Human Tongue"; "The Marriage Relationship"; and "Man's Use of Money." As we study the teachings of Jesus we discover that He spent more time talking about our use of money than He did talking about immortality.

"How may one rise above the Love of Money and make his possessions and his business a means of spiritual enrichment," is a personal question which every man must face. As we face this question we need to listen to the solemn warning coming from The Master in the words of our text, "Take heed and beware of covetousness."

Jesus did talk about some of the problems and some of the temptations which often come to those who are holders of material wealth. But never do we find Jesus expressing His disapproval of one's holding of property. Nor did He ever intimate that poverty is man's ideal way of life.

James and John and their father Zebedee were capitalists. They owned their fishing boats, their nets, and other equipment which was essential to their fishing business. Jesus became a close friend to these men. He called James and John to a great Spiritual Adventure, but He did not suggest that they surrender their title to the Fishing Business. It is a certain fact that Zebedee with the help of his hired helpers, continued the fishing business. No doubt Zebedee shared part of the income from this business to support the families of James and John while they were traveling with the Christ.

Jesus was a frequent guest in "well-to-do homes." Jesus enjoyed the fellowship and comforts of these homes. Never do we hear of His rebuking the owners of these homes for their use of physical comforts. The possessions of a home like that of Mary, Martha and Lazarus can be a spiritual asset. We believe that to use the physical things of this earth for our health and well being is according to God's Plan for His Children.

At the same time we must face the fact that the Teachings of Jesus warn us against covetousness as being a moral peril which is ever present to those who are possessors of physical property. Jesus spoke very clearly concerning the deceitfulness of riches. Study carefully the parable of Lazarus the beggar and Dives the rich man. Even a poor man who must beg for the food which he eats may be clean and strong in his soul—ready to enter into the Eternal Kingdom of God. At the same time a man who has enjoyed every physical comfort which the human heart can desire in this life may also be unprepared and unfitted to share in the privileges and the responsibilities of God's Eternal Kingdom. Luke 16:19-31.

In the 12th chapter of Luke Jesus tells the story of a certain man whose ground brought forth a great harvest. According to Jesus this man made two grave mistakes. 1st In his preparations to take care of this bountiful harvest, this man thought only of himself. He considered no responsibilities for others. 2nd This man was so absorbed in his physical holdings until he came to believe that he could satisfy ever need of his soul, with the fruits and grains which he had harvested from his farm. Jesus made it clear that both of these ideas were wrong and very tragic to the life of this man.

Since the scriptures declare that property may be a blessing or a curse, it follows that the stewardship of possessions is a vital Christian teaching. Two of the Ten Commandments; "Thou shalt not steal" and "Thou shalt not covet," speak clearly on this subject. The New Testament is no less explicit on the theme of stewardship, warning against our selfish use of money and telling us that we are stewards of all things that we possess. Therefore stewardship is not an elective in the school of Christian living—it is a Requirement!

We need to be diligent in our study of Christian Stewardship, for we are living in a property minded age. Our present world problems and our national differences are in a large measure our economic problems. One of our most capable Church Leaders has said, "Markets and profits loom large in our national and in our international policies. Our will to possess must be controlled by MORAL LAW or our Western Civilization is headed for disaster."

The question of property or of money is a personal concern for each of us. We must earn our living and we must make provisions for our families and then prepare for old age. The Bible encourages none of us to expect a living from our friends nor from the State without the labor of our hands. We have far too many people today who are looking to the Government for their total support.

Christian industry and commerce are not to be scorned. These are needed to serve the needs of man and fulfill the purposes of God. The production and the proper distribution of those things; food, clothing, shelter, etc., which are needed for the comforts of human life present a real Christian Calling to each of us. This work must be approached as a sacred service to our fellow men and to our Heavenly Father's Kingdom. The will to possess can become a ruling passion and bring shipwreck for many gifted men. GREED IS ALWAYS A DEADLY SIN! Every person needs to be on the alert against this deadly sin.

We need to accept as our ideal and then follow in our daily living the Christian Idea of property and its use. For if we do not we may awake to find ourselves captured by other false and dangerous theories. There is the theory of the rugged individualist who says, "Let every man get what he can and use it as he pleases, within the law." This man is for himself with little or no concern for others. But his theory does not measure up to the ideals and teachings found in our New Testament.

At the opposite extreme we find the ideas of communism and socialism. Both believe that the state should own and control all property. Communism seeks to bring others into its camp by revolutionary methods, and is even willing to defy all moral laws in order to win their points.

Socialism seeks to follow a more orderly course, but still it makes the state, not God, the sovereign owner. Both of these theories will deprive the individual of his basic freedoms and deaden his sense of responsibility and stewardship to God, the Creator and Father of all mankind.

Therefore it is urgently necessary that we make clear and commanding the Christian Teachings on Property and material wealth. Because the Christian doctrine of Stewardship will lead man to the highest possible use of the property and material wealth which may fall into his care. To follow this theory will keep man from falling victim to the pitfalls of covetousness. For the Christian Doctrine proclaims: 1st God is the Creator and Owner of all 2nd Man's possession and use of property and money, whether it be little or much, is a sacred trust from God.

Will you ask yourself this question, "Have I been a faithful Christian Steward in my use of the property and money which has come into my care?" Let us study His Way and do our best to walk therein.

Overnight - A Recreation Program Comes To City

The progress made in recreation by the City of Hazard this past summer is the subject of a letter appearing into today's Herald.

The writer, Mr. Lux Oxley, pays tribute to the work of the Recreation Commission and to the Hazard coaches and residents who are making a success of the recreation program.

We can only endorse Mr. Oxley's comments and recall for the public that this summer will go down in the history

LETTER

Visitor To Hazard Commends Recreation

Recently I was a visitor in Hazard and saw many of my friends. It is always a very refreshing occasion to see the people of Hazard. You can go a million miles away, but there will never be people so friendly and, to me, so happy as those people in your town and county.

The people visiting Hazard can be proud, as can its residents, of the development on the mountain. To me, however, the most dramatic improvement was the organized recreational program. You realize, of course, that this has a dear spot in my heart, especially in Hazard and Perry County. Yet, you will never realize the importance of your recreational program on a community level until you have lived in the large metropolitan areas. Hazard has made such a fundamental step forward, toward this important phase of your community development, that your youth will now have the same opportunity as the youth in other towns and cities.

The program is well supervised and I made it my business to learn your system. There is no doubt that the most effective system for your city is the present one; and there is no doubt that your coaches, Jim Caudill, Paul Wright, and Goebel Ritter are most capable and will certainly do an outstanding job as a part of this system.

Your Superintendent of Schools, Mr. Eversole, should be highly commended for his full cooperation, and last, but certainly not least, the city officials are definitely acting and doing a great service to your city in this fine program.

The Little League, the swimming pools, the playgrounds, the resort on the mountain, and the wonderful attitude of your people toward a recreational program will lend much to a stronger city, county, state, and national community not only today, but tomorrow and forever.

Congratulations Hazard!

Your friend,
LUX OXLEY
Washington, D.C.

Folks by the time that this gets off the press many of you will have already made the long treks back home and to the old grind again. All you boys that work around the mines I know that yours will be over. Many of you, I am sure made the most of your time off, such as visiting home folks, others with their families on camping and fishing trips. Many of you will welcome home as a haven of rest after your vacation. Many of you will start trying to get the kids in their normal routine again. Maybe they have been to see Grandpa and Grandma. I know that it always a welcome sight to see the home folks, boy oh boy, they can become spoiled so easily. Both the kids and the old folks. It just happens only maybe once or twice a year. It will soon blow over so take it easy and make the best of it. Years to come you will recall the many things you did on your trip, then it will be very fond memories.

Warning

Folks, I still want to impress upon you the dangers at this season of the year, most of all snakes. E. R. Combs told me of one of his neighbors being bit by a snake over a week ago. He was lucky to have been able to get medical attention within one hour. He is still suffering somewhat with it. This happened upon Lotts Creek.

Dud Plummer relates as he came in from work the other afternoon he heard his little of Perry County as the turning point for recreation here.

Baseball and Swimming

Last summer, recreation opportunities were limited to the two baseball leagues and limited swimming for a few at the overworked facilities of Bobby Davis Park.

How things have changed in the short space of but a few months.

Now, there are three Tot Lots for the young children, and more in the planning stage or ready for construction. There are handicraft and art classes for persons of all age groups; dance instructions for teenagers; swimming classes; basketball and baseball leagues. And we're sure none who attended will ever forget the wonderful Fourth of July program staged by the Recreation Commission—fireworks, a band concert and an All-Star baseball game.

Vandalism Declines

And has it been by accident that vandalism and juvenile delinquency is on the decline? This, even in face of the fact that the 9 p.m. curfew was lifted. Certainly, the activities of the recreation program must draw some credit for curbing delinquency.

The construction of two private club pools, one at the Hazard Golf Club and the other at Sun Valley, has lightened the load which must be carried by the Bobby Davis pool. Unfortunately, the only drawback in the city's present recreation program is the absence here of a large, municipal swimming pool to meet the demands, not only of Perry, but of adjoining counties.

Opportunity For Youth

Yet, despite this glaring deficiency, much has been achieved this past summer. A start has been made for recreation, and we're sure that future years will see further growth and development of Hazard's and Perry County's recreational facilities.

We agree with you Mr. Oxley when you say:

"You will never realize the importance of your recreational program on a community level until you have lived in large metropolitan areas. Hazard has made such a fundamental step forward

... your youth will now have the same opportunity as the youth in other towns and cities."

girl yelling at the top of her voice. He found her about the same time as his wife came out the back door. Mary Ellen was upon a glider in the back yard. Dad said honey what is the matter. She said daddy, look a snake. Dad states that he was standing almost on it, when he saw it. He says that the rock and roll has never been done before as he did it. This happened to be just an ordinary snake of the non poisonous type. It could have been.

Good Catch

Was made by Golden Grimes and George Friley up Fourseam way, they were down Tennessee way, in making their good catch of fish. They were almost caught in a nest of rattlers as related by Golden. It seems that they were fishing the head waters of a stream. They had to encounter a certain amount of thickets along the banks. As they were moving along it seems that Golden was in front when he heard that familiar singing of the rattler. He says they then made it a point to vacate this section of their fishing territory. Boys, I know what you mean to hear that noise of a rattler, one is enough for me without running into a gang of them as you fellows state. Folks, I would suggest that you take the utmost care when you are not only fishing, but on all your outings this summer. Dog days will soon be on us, and you know what that means.

"There Stands Birthplace of E.K.'s Tourist Industry

Can it be that future generations will one day gaze up at La Citadelle and say:

"There stands the birth-place of the tourist industry in Eastern Kentucky."

No one really knows. But if tourists are to ever become a major source of revenue for Eastern Kentuckians, then to La Citadelle and the resort motel's developer, L. O. Davis, belongs the credit.

Lavishly Appointed Building

La Citadelle is not just another motel. It is, of course, a lavishly appointed building, finished in refined taste that reflects Mr. Davis' long experience in the entertainment and tourist worlds, and his miles of travel all over the United States, the Caribbean and South America. It is obvious that nothing has been overlooked or spared by Mr. Davis to make La Citadelle the equivalent of any motel in the Southeastern part of the United States.

For over a year now, La Citadelle has been a point of interest for all Perry

PAPER PULPIT

The Bible remains the miracle Book. It has to be accounted for.

Its predictions fulfilled, its diagnosis of what is wrong with man, its unity from many human authors, its super-human knowledge of nature, all cry for explanation. It is for the very reason that Spiritual realities are invisible to physical senses, that God had to reveal Himself by incarnation and inspiration. You cannot put your finger on God by natural scientific methods.

That's the very reason why we have a Bible. Our natural knowledge is inadequate.

Something New Along "Trail of Lonesome Pine" Is Hazard's La Citadelle Motel

Resort Is Region's Bid For Tourist Business

There is something bright and new along the famous "Trail of the Lonesome Pine!"

With almost magic ingenuity, expert artisans, engineers and builders have created a magnificent resort motel in Perry County, Kentucky, on a mountain peak high above the city of Hazard.

La Citadelle Motel, a deluxe, forty-unit facility, due to open early in July, is central eastern Kentucky's first bid for tourists who desire recreation as well as good food and comfortable accommodations. A patio with a forty-four foot pool will provide for swimming, sunning or just sitting. Shuffleboard, horseback riding, hiking, picnicking, golf and a children's playground will be provided.

Promoted By L. O. Davis

The project was promoted and completed by Lawrence O. Davis, of Hazard and Miami, Florida, who sparked the creation of the Perry County Development Association a few years ago. The organization has a score of fine achievements to which it can "point with pride."

The Association, with Davis as its president, has completed programs with local capital and contributions which include two modern mid-town parking lots; a magnificent memorial community coliseum; a main-street modernization program; the excellent Towne House Motel, a commercial facility with thirty-five units; the organization's own luxury offices on the new Hazard by-pass (soon to house also the operations of the Eastern Kentucky Regional Planning Commission, a unit of the State Department of Economic Development.)

Hazard and Perry County have produced evidence of individual and organization co-operation in many fields of community development. Reforestation has attained major proportions; energetic support of the Buckhorn reservoir, public schools and junior colleges, a positive new concept of citizenship has brought to the area a united front for better living.

In the development of the new resort

Countians and visitors to this county. Sunday afternoon rides up Skyline Drive to "see how they're doing on the motel" have for many become almost a ritual. And it is no wonder why, for the motel is unquestionably one of the most beautifully appointed buildings ever to be found anywhere.

Symbol of Future Today

We cannot help but wonder, however, how many have ever reflected on what La Citadelle actually symbolizes. It is more than a fabulous resort-motel, costing $750,000 and having a swimming pool.

Actually, it is more, much more than what the eyes detect.

La Citadelle is a vision—and an expression of confidence in the future.

History Has Proved His Vision

The resort-motel stands today because the builder, although he may never live to see it, believes the day will come when Eastern Kentucky's scenic mountains will develop into tourist mecca. There are the skeptics, of course, who question Mr. Davis' thinking, and claim the area can never become a tourist center.

For those who doubt his judgment, we can only recall that the man who built La Citadelle is the same man who years ago helped pioneer a mosquito-infested, barren tract of shoreland in Florida that is now the tourist capital of the world—Miami.

None can deny that history has proved Mr. Davis a man of vision.

La Citadelle is an enterprise looking to the future—a future that is closer to us today because of the resort-motel.

A Fitting Location

It is fitting the motel has been built on a high peak over Hazard, so that residents of this region who sometimes despair of the future can look up and see this symbol of confidence in the future. Eastern Kentucky has all too often been written off the map by pseudo-experts, State and National officials and other prophets of doom.

La Citadelle is this region's answer to those who claim that Eastern Kentucky has no future. La Citadelle is an appropriate monument symbolizing that the future of Eastern Kentucky can be what Eastern Kentuckians want it to be.

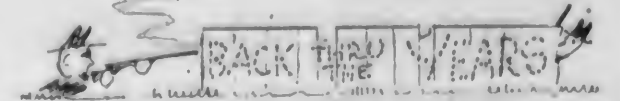

motel, builder Davis has made every effort to retain the natural forested state of the surrounding five-hundred acres. Along the two-mile mountain drive, one-and-a-half acre homesites were made available and a number of beautiful homes have been built or are under construction or in the planning stage.

Resort architects produced the plans for La Citadelle, and Albert Pick and Company provided much of the equipment, furnishings and decorative scheme. Radiant electric heat will take care of the guest in winter; air conditioning and the brisk mountain breezes will make for comfort in the summer.

Skyland Dining Room

Skyland dining room will serve one hundred guests and the coffee shop, located just off the patio and the pool, will provide for the casual visitor. Every room has its own sun terrace overlooking twenty miles of mountains in every direction. Background music will reach all public rooms and an electric organ has been installed in the dining room. A recreation and tea room is just off the main dining room and a cocktail lounge adjoins the large and comfortable lobby.

The easy-grade asphalt road is a perfect piece of engineering. Over a mile of 8-inch pipe with boosters was required to carry water to the mountain top resort. The motel

Harrodsburg Is City of "Firsts"

Frankfort, July 11—By virtue of its distinction as the first permanent white settlement in Kentucky, Harrodsburg lays claim too:

The first preacher in Kentucky was the Rev. John Lythe of the Church of England. He came to Old Fort Harrod in 1775 with Bible in one hand and axe in the other. He was known as the spiritual leader of the wilderness.

The first census in Kentucky was taken in 1777 at Harrodsburg. The population count at that time was 198.

The first tax levied and collected by the court of Kentucky was by Lincoln County in 1783. Harrodsburg was the seat of government. A head tax of 10 pounds of tobacco per tithe was assessed.

Mrs. Jane Coomes taught the first school in Fort Harrod in 1776 and the first practicing physician in Kentucky was a Dr. Hart who settled in Harrodsburg in 1775.

itself sits above a complicated group of terraces, beautifully planted, with the driveway leading to a protected court. The visitor may drive right up to his room or swing into a lower parking terrace reserved for guests who will use the pool, dining or recreational facilities.

Magnified Scenic Area

La Citadelle is an example of local foresight and an effort to "diversify" community income. It is privately financed and in a magnificent scenic and recreational area. Major tourist attractions nearby include Buckhorn Lake, for fishing and boating; Natural Bridge, Sky Bridge, Carter Caves, Dewey Lake, Breaks of the Sandy, Pine Mountain, and Cumberland Falls. The famous Frontier Nursing Station, at Hyden, and one of the country's most modern coal mine operations, at Leatherwood, are within a short drive.

Hazard is setting the pace for a tourist program in Eastern Kentucky. Thousands will enjoy the facilities being provided in this beautiful resort retreat. La Citadelle, "The Fortress," will indeed be a stronghold for comfort and relaxation.

BLUE GRASS

Sunday Rain Surrounding Homes; Stream Wipes Out Gardens

John Smedley

Heavy rains Sunday changed the looks of our beautiful Blue Grass Hollow. The little stream leading out of the hollow practically surrounded several houses and covered our roads and leveled most of our gardens leaving our lawn covered with mud and causing families to start for the hills in panic.

I would call it a real flash flood or cloud burst. It washed enough coal to the front of my house to last this coming winter.

Evangelist, Holds Revival

Evangelist Kenneth Gaub who started and pastored Blue Grass Church 18 months has just returned from a 8 1/2 months tour of the United States and Canada. He has taken pictures of his revival meetings as hundreds have attended. Having many pictures of people being healed by the power of God.

Evangelist Kenneth Gaub's son, Nathan, who was born in the Mt. Mary Hospital traveled 25 states before he was 6 months old; now he has been in 40 states but calls Hazard home.

Brother Gaub who has held revival campaigns in some of the United States largest cities will hold a area wide revival in the court house auditorium in Hazard, July 21-31 at 7:30. Hundreds are planning on coming to this campaign.

Sunday Brother Gaub held services in his Blue Grass Church. The place was packed.

Visitors

Visiting over the weekend were Dewey Lamance and Victor Collinsworth formerly of Blue Diamond and now employed in Middletown. Victor is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Sizemore of Blue Grass. He is in the painting and decorating business in Middletown. Mr. Lamance is visiting at Blue Diamond and is night watchman in Middletown. Mr. Collinsworth and Mr. Lamance are new subscribers to the Herald. You'll get all the news boys and I know you'll be proud of our paper.

Social Service Advisory Committee Meeting Held At Hazard Thursday

The Division of Children's Services adoption program was discussed by Marvin Combs, Social Worker of the Hazard District at the Perry County Social Service Advisory Committee meeting held at Hazard on July 17, 1958.

Mr. Combs recounted that as was stated at an earlier meeting of the Committee, the first emphasis of the Department of Economic Security is to keep children in their own homes with their own parents or relatives when possible. For children who can not return to their parents, the Department strives toward permanent placement in an adoptive home. This is done only after the Circuit Court has been properly advised that permanent separation of child and parents is in the child's best interest. After all rights of the parents have been legally terminated, the Department, through its professional staff, gives careful and individual attention to the needs of each child when selecting his adoptive parents.

Mr. Combs informed the Committee that the Division of Children's Services is now in the process of developing additional ways and means of increasing its adoptive resources for older children, Negro children and family groups. It is comparatively easy to maintain an adequate resource for white infants, he stated.

The Department recognizes the anxieties experienced by approved adoptive couples when waiting a child. It is their experience, however, Mr. Combs stated, that these feelings are quickly abated when a child is placed.

Members of the local Social Service Advisory Committee are: Judge J. A. Smith, W. B. Campbell, Monroe Fugate, Bruce Stephens, Sam Garnett, Mrs. T. D. Barker, Mrs. Kate Kimberlin, Rev. Winn T. Barr, and Rev. Charles Deaton.

This Committee appointed by the Governor by authority of the Kentucky Revised Statutes 205.335, serves in an advisory capacity in relation to the programs of the Division of Children's Services and the Division of Public Assistance.

The next meeting of the Committee is scheduled for August 14, 1958, at which time the Aid to Dependent Children Program will be discussed by a worker of the Public Assistance Division.

Cooper Attend Dinner At Nixon's

We went to a very attractive dinner at the Vice President and Mrs. Nixon's house, given for the Under Secretary of State and Mrs. Christian Herter. There were only twelve of us, all good friends that have known each other for a dozen years, which may not seem long to you but is quite a record for people in the Government as they change so often. The Nixon house is cool and comfortable and it was a delight to go into their pale blue drawing room after a hot and dusty day. Both of the Nixons are excellent hosts because they have the happy and essential quality for making people enjoy themselves. They are really glad to see their guests which is immediately reflected in the atmosphere of the party. The dinner table was awfully pretty. The flowers were different shades of pink carnations and the table was lit by three candleabra that looked like little golden trees, with pink wax was so interesting to hear the men discuss the events of the day in such a happy atmosphere. This is the kind of evening that makes dining out a pleasure.

Exceptional Ceremony

I have just come back from The White House, where we went to see the swearing-in of the new Chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, John McCone, who comes from my home town of Pasadena, Calif. I asked Arthur Krock, of the New York Times, who goes to everything, if he thought I should write you about this event. He replied that this was an exceptional ceremony. It took place in the West Wing of the White House at 9:30 A.M. The room was crowded with Government people, including the retired Admiral Lewis Strauss and Mrs. Strauss, Senator Knowland and his daughter, Senator Clinton Anderson, who will be Chairman of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy and, of course, many Californians. Miss Ann Wheaton, the President's Assistant and Press Secretary, was in charge of the photographers and newsreel cameramen, and my dear friend Rosemary McCone, born a Cooper of Bardonia, looked so pretty and happy standing in front of the cameras with her husband and the Vice President. Then a side door opened and The President came in and smiled and waved to all of us. He was in fine good spirits and I noticed anew how much better he always looks in real life than he does in his pictures. The swearing-in ceremony was very short and impressive and then everyone went up to congratulate the McCones and then left to begin the day's work.

Press Club Party

I want to tell you about the recent Women's National Press Club party for Mrs. Lee Walsh, another famous Kentuckian, Ghent, and Woman's Editor of The Washington Star, who has just been elected President of the Press Club. Everything about the party, from the racing silks on the table and the mint julep loving cup to a quartet of Kentucky story tellers, was strictly from the Blue Grass State. Mrs. Fred Vinson, widow of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, Senator Monroney from Oklahoma (but born in Kentucky), retired Supreme Court Justice Stanley Reed, and our Senator John Sherman Cooper, were the ones invited to tell Kentucky yarns to the 300 guests.

The party was held in the big garden behind the F Street Club. Southern style white iron grillwork framed the buffet table, brightly colored paper mache horses' heads served as centerpieces, and bottles of Blue Grass cologne were even scattered on the tables.

Coal Growth Adds New Life To State Mining

Kentucky's coal mining industry, third largest in the Nation, has been given new impetus with the expansion of Western Kentucky Coal Fields. State-wide production in 1957 put Kentucky's all-time coal output over the 2½ billion ton mark. This is about 4 percent of the state's reserves—enough for about 800 years at present production rates.

The Western Kentucky Coal Field comprises an area of 4,680 square miles and covers all or parts of 21 counties, of which 14 are coal producers. Added to the Eastern Kentucky Coal Fields, this makes a total of about 15,000 square miles of coal bearing area in the State.

One of the companies participating in the expansion of the Western field is the Peabody Coal Company. From its new mine, River Queen Mine, Peabody will ship 60,000 tons of coal to power companies in Northern Kentucky and Cincinnati.

For the first time in history, coal is being shipped UP the Ohio River to help supply the Ohio Valley's cities' constantly increasing needs for electric power. Last year three generating stations in Northern Kentucky and Cincinnati burned 2,072,263 tons of coal—an average of 5,677 tons a day. Their coal bill was $12,133,330.

The big River Queen Mine, located near Central City about 35 miles south of Owensboro, represents the fossilized remains of a huge prehistoric lake. Peabody officials say it is one of the world's richest strip coal deposits. They estimate the deposit at 100 million tons of coal and say it will take 20 to 25 years to exhaust its supply.
